Mo was waiting outside her class. She was feeling sick in the exam week. She really hated physics, her worst subject. Terry looked back at her from the front, then looked away quickly. Mo thought she looked ___16___. She didn't have a problem with physics. She didn't have a problem with anything.

"Hi, Mo, it's your favourite exam today," said Nima, ___17___ as she joined the line. Terry was looking at Mo again. "So, what's wrong with her?" asked Nima. "I thought you were friends." "Yes, so did I," said Mo. "She ___18___ to help me revise for the physics exam, but she hasn't answered all my calls and texts. She's forgotten who her friends are!" Mo said ___19___. Mr. Reed was talking to the class and the students were going into the exam room. Mo gave Nima a worried ___20___ and followed them.

Mo couldn't answer the fifth questions, it was too difficult. She looked up and saw Terry sitting two rows in front of her. Mo couldn't ___21___ it! Terry was holding her phone under the table and reading from it. Is that how Terry always got such good ___22___? It wasn't fair! Mo had never cheated and she often got in trouble for failing exams. ___23___ thinking, Mo looked up and nodded to Mr. Reed. Terry was too busy looking at her phone and she didn't hear Mr. Reed as he walked ___24___ up to her table. Mr. Reed said nothing. He just picked up her exam paper, and told Terry to leave the room. Everyone was looking at Mo and she felt really guilty now.

"Mo, please wait!" Terry called when Mo was leaving school. Mo could see that Terry had been crying, her face was ___25___ and her eyes were red. "I'm really sorry I haven't answered any of your calls. But we're having a terrible time at home. My dad had a big heart operation today and I was reading texts from my mum to see how the operation was going. I'm sorry I didn't tell you what was happening. Will you forgive me?"

In recent years, an increasing number of Chinese TV dramas have been exported (出门) overseas and got popularity among foreign audiences. The following are the top 4 most popular Chinese TV dramas overseas.

The Legend of Zhen Huan (2011)

The drama tells the story of Zhen Huan, who was chosen to be Emperor Yongzheng's wife in ancient China's Qing Dynasty (1644-1911). She learned how to survive in a palace and in the end managed to defeat her enemies.

New Legend of White Snake(1992)

It told the fairytale love story between a good-hearted man and a snack that in fact turned into a pretty girl after thousands of years of training. The drama involves traditional Chinese culture and folk customs such as traditional Chinese music, traditional Chinese medicine.

Journey to the West(1986)

It is based on one of the Four Great Classical Novels of Chinese literature. The drama tells Monk Xuanzang, who traveled to India to get sacred texts. Protected by his three disciples, he faced many monsters and difficulties on his way there and back.

The Bund(1980)

"The Bund" is a television drama produced by Hong Kong. It tells the story of the members of Shanghai gangs. Acted by famous stars Chow Yun-fat and Angie Chiu, the drama was praised by people around China as the Godfather of the East.

Is sleep important for children? A new study says yes. A new study published this week in the journal Pediatrics shows that children who do not get enough sleep have less control over emotions and are less focused (注意力集中) at school.

In a new study, student with less sleep were more tired and distracted. Before the survey began, students were asked to sleep the same amount of hours as they normally would. Their teachers were asked to score the children on thoughtfulness, touchiness and emotional reactions. After five nights of the kids' sleep changes, the teachers were asked to take the survey again. Compared with their original scores, those who slept one hour less had worse behavior scores than those who were allowed to sleep an hour more. Students with less sleep were more cranky, frustrated and had more problems paying attention. The children with more sleep showed improvement in these areas.

"The scientists chose to study kids in their homes instead of inside a lab because they wanted to measure how everyday changes might affect children's behavior in the classroom. One more movie or one less game played before bed can change the way children focus and work with their teachers and classmates," says Gruber.

"If less sleep leads to a drop in attention in class, children may miss out on learning and chances to be creative. If they are easily irritated (使烦躁) and frustrated because their bodies and brains are tired, they may not learn as much either, "says Gruber.

 - A. they will study kids both in their homes and inside a lab.
 - B. kids pay less attention to class if their bodies and brains are tired
 - C. sleeping less may make children have more chances to be creative
 - D. one more movie played before bed can have a good effect on children

Did you know that about 55% of communication is not using languages, so in fact, our bodies are actually saying more than our words? I find that the key to a successful conversation in a foreign language is to speak to people not only in their spoken language but also with the body language they know best. And people from different countries usually show different attitudes towards using body language.

Brain, along with much of Northern Europe such as Denmark and Sweden, is considered as a "non-contact" country. Whenever they have communication, personal space is very important to them. In a formal situation, they would often great each other with a handshake. Informally, but less frequently, British friends would great with a hug but hardly ever would greet with a kiss on the check! But in the south of Italy, and in many different parts of the world, people usually greet with two kisses on the check and use a lot of hand gestures. In other words, little personal space is left between people when communicating. Sometimes you may find yourself not knowing what hand gestures to use when expressing yourself. However, what you do know for sure is that using body language would make yourself get more opportunities to be loved by Italians and fully immerse yourself in their culture. Therefore, when you want to have a better communication with others, you can take the following tips:

Various gestures: try to use your head, arms and hands more.

A. what body language means

C. how to start a conversation

Facial expressions: always smile at people! They say that smiling is the most powerful unspoken way to communicate friendliness.

	Eye contact: Eyes are th	e windows to the soul.
	Don't worry about perso	onal space.

A rising number of Chinese couples are allowed to have a second child as Chinese government considers further relaxing the one-child policy. Do two kids make a perfect family? Do you want to have a little brother or sister?

Fox, an office worker, points out when most young parents decide to have another child, they should plan their budget (预算) firstly. If they can't take care of the new baby by themselves, they may have to at least spend an extra 5,000 yuan per month to hire a nanny. Nowadays, most young Chinese parents cannot afford it.

Under the one-child policy carried out in China for thirty years, a company manager. William thinks many kids are spoiled by their parents. The "little emperors" don't know that it is important to share and give and many of them even become self-centered. If they have another brother or sister, they will learn something about responsibility, sharing and caring for others. Lisa is the only child of her parents, so she always feels lonely while growing up. If she can have a sister or brother, she knows that they will be companions for life. Besides, she would like to have a sister, whom she can dress up and share some girl talks with. As a medical worker, Doctor Wang says she has been to sites of earthquakes and other natural disasters. Witnessing the helpless parents when losing their only child, she felt quite upset and disturbed. She often asks herself what she will do if something had happens to

LOS ANGELES --- Kobe Bryant has decided to retire(退役) after this season, ending his 20-year career with the Los Angeles Lakers. The 37-year-old Bryant made the announcement in a post on November 29, 2015 on The Players' Tribune on Sunday.

Bryant went straight to the Lakers after graduating from high school in Philadelphia in 1996, and he got five championship rings and 17 All-Star selections during twenty years --- the longest tenure(期限) with one team in NBA history. Bryant also won two Olympic gold medals. But Bryant's last three seasons have ended early because of getting hurt during the matches, and he played in only 41 games in the last two years. He has struggled bravely in the first 15 games of this season with mostly young teammates on a rebuilding base, making a career-worst 32% of his shots and dealing with pain and tiredness every day. In recent months, Bryant repeatedly said he didn't know whether he would play another season, clearly hoping for a getting-better for his health and the Lakers' fortunes. Neither has happened, and Bryant didn't wait any longer to decide his future. The third-leading scorer in NBA history wrote a poem called "Dear Basketball" to announce his decision. "My heart can take the pounding. My mind can handle the grind. But my body knows it's time to say goodbye."

"Kobe Bryant is one of the greatest players in the history of our game," NBA Commissioner Adam Sliver said. "Only 13 players in league history played on more championship teams than Bryant."

"And that's OK." Kobe wrote in his poem, "I'm ready to let you go. I want you to know now. So we both can savor(品味) every moment we have left together, the good or the bad. We have given each other all that we have."

One possible version:

A trip to shiqiu movieland

We had a trip to shjiqiu movieland on December 26.it lies in the south of Nanjing. The movieland is set in natural landscape with beautiful environment. The air there is very fresh.

After we arrived there, we had a walk around the lake, it was great fun to enjoy the natural beauty. There were lots of restaurants with delicious food from different parts of the country. I liked fish best because they are fresh and tasty. Luckily we met some of the famous movie stars there, who were making films at the movieland. It was amazing! We enjoyed ourselves visiting their studios and some of us took photos with them. we then watched them playing an act and knew how a film was made. It was really exciting experience!

Although, we felt tired after the trip, we all think the movieland is well worth a visit. It impresses us a lot and we learn a lot from the trip which can't be learnt from our books.
