Every year, more than nine million people all over the world come to visit London. They go to the museums and 46, they look at interesting old buildings or have a drink in a park. Two million visitors go to the Tower of London. One million 47 go to see St Paul's Cathedral or go to Oxford Street to look at shops.

A quick and easy way to get to different places in the city is to take an underground train. The London underground is one of the best and most widely used transport 48 in the world with around 24 million journeys made each day. The trains run all day and most of the night. Buy your ticket before you get on the train. It's better not to make your journey between eight o'clock and ten o'clock in the morning, or four o'clock and six o'clock in the evening. The trains are so crowded that you can 49 move or find a place to sit.

A. cancel B. simplest C. predict D. are called E. special

London's famous red buses form a big part of getting around in London. Although the London underground is the fastest and for newcomers the 50 way of getting around London, the buses play their part and are an experience you should try at least once on your visit. Unlike the London underground, seated on the top deck of the bus, you get a great sightseeing experience of London as well.

Some 51 visitors' buses take you to many of the interesting places in the city on one journey. It takes about one and a half hours, but you can 52 your journey and get off (and on again) at the different places you want to visit.

London taxis 53 "black cabs". Most of them are black, but some are not. You can stop one if it has a "For Hire" sign on it. The drivers are friendly and helpful.

In a word, London is a big and beautiful city with lots to see and to do.

A. Choose the best answer

http://www.intemethoaxes.net/info.htm
ABOUT INTERNET	HOAXES MORE INFO	CONTACT US

The Internet is full of false information. It is important for us all to avoid being fooled by such information. Here are three examples of Internet hoaxes.

On his website, a man by the name of Tony has asked for gifts of money to save the life of a pretty little rabbit named Toby that he rescued from under his house. A cat must have attacked the rabbit, the man claimed, so he took it in. He gave Toby loving care and nursed him back to health. There is a very cruel point, however. If the greedy man doesn't receive enough money, he will eat poor little Toby. (Don't worry, though. Remember, it's just a hoax!)

While the streets of New Orleans, the USA, were still flooded after a terrible hurricane(飓风), a frightening e-mail was sent around the Internet. It included a photograph of a large crocodile over five meters long. According to the message, it had been swimming around the flooded city eating people. It was later discovered that the photographs of the crocodile were of one that was caught in the Congo(刚果) years before.

The following e-Mail hoax takes in many people. It claims that a large British company will pay you to send their e-mail to as many people as possible. For every person that you send the e-mail to, it promises you will receive $5.00; for every person that you send it to that sends it to someone else, you'll get $3.00; and for every third person that receives it, you will be paid $1.00. To make it even more believable, the sender says that at first he thought it was a hoax, but the company soon sent him $800.00.

69. The underlined word "hoaxes" means _____
- A) games B) websites C) lies D) stories
70. Toby is the name of a _____
- A) man B) rabbit C) website D) cat
71. The crocodile in the photograph actually lived in _____
- A) New Orleans B) the USA C) Britain D) the Congo
72. Some people believe that they can _____ if they send e-mails.
- A) become famous B) find friends C) make money D) keep promises
73. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage? _____
- A) The city of New Orleans was flooded because of the terrible hurricane.
- B) If the man doesn't receive enough money, he will eat poor little Toby.
- C) The crocodile swam around the flooded city and ate several people.
- D) Someone received $800.00 from the company because of the e-mail.
74. The main idea of the passage is to _____
- A) teach how to create a professional website with attractive stories
- B) show that anyone can create good Internet hoaxes with some facts
- C) explain that, even though they seem false, Internet hoaxes might be true
- D) tell people to be careful of Internet hoaxes by giving some examples

B. Choose the words or expressions and complete the passage

Although the first airplane did not fly until 1903, flying soon became the fastest method of transport. Today it is 75 people's favourite way of traveling long distances because it has a lot of advantages. The first airplanes were not big or powerful enough to carry more than a pilot, but during the First World War (1914-1918) larger aircraft with up to four engines were 76 to carry bombs(炸弹). After the war some of these were changed to carry a few passenger services. In 1919 the first regular passenger services were started between several cities in Europe.

Air transport was even then too 77 for most cargoes(货物), but mail began to be carried by air at an early stage. This was partly because letters are small and light, and partly because businessmen, especially, were prepared to pay more for their mail to be delivered by the fastest method. 78, in the United States, where letters could take over a week to cross the country by train, airmail services were the first regular transport flights.

The early passenger aircraft could carry only about 12 passengers, and only enough 79 for short journeys. For long distances, such as from Europe to the United States, filled with very light gas and able to float through the air, began to be used in the 1930s.

By the end of the Second World War in 1945, much larger airplanes had been made. At the same time, military(军事的) airfields had been built all over the world, and long-distance routes had been set up. After the war, the introduction of the jet engine, which 80 much greater power, allowed even bigger and faster aircraft to be built. Today's wide-bodied airplanes can carry as many as 800 passengers.

Modern air transport passenger services are quite convenient. Air transport has allowed more people to travel abroad than ever before.

Beatlemania is a very strong feeling for the group, the Beatles. The Beatles were four young musicians from Liverpool, England. Their n 81 were John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr. These four men n 82 took music lessons. They taught themselves to play music.

In 1957, John c 83 a group called the Quarrymen. At that time, he was only 16 years old. Then he met Paul. They began to write songs and sing together. Soon, George joined them. The group played in England, and then in Germany. In 1962, Ringo joined them. Then John, Paul, George and Ringo were the Beatles.

The Beatles made their f 84 hit song in 1962. The song was "Love Me Do." In 1963, their song "Please Please Me" was a bigger hit. In all, they had twenty-nine hit songs. By 1963, the Beatles were very p 85 in England, and Beatlemania started. They had many fans. At concerts, their fans screamed very very loudly. The Beatles could not hear themselves sing.

The next year, the Beatles went to the United States. The Americans loved them, too. People everywhere c 86 their clothes and their hair. This rock-and roll group was welcomed by people all over the world.

The Beatles broke up in 1970. They wanted to play new music. All of the Beatles did interesting, new things. John wrote music with his wife. Paul started a new group with his wife. George and Ringo made their own r 87 and gave concerts. Sadly, John was shot dead in New York in 1980. He was forty years old. George became sick and died in 2001.

We still hear Beatles songs on the radio today. Their music and songs will live in our hearts for ever.

D. Answer the questions

Once there was a little girl named Mary Lennox and her two little friends, Dickon and Colin. Both of Mary's parents died when she was a little baby. She was sent to her uncle, Mr. Archibald Craven, who had a son named Colin.

Mary was once a selfish(自私的) girl. She cared for nobody else except herself and she was always alone. She started to know the word "friend" after she met Dickon, the gardener's son. The little boy was very kind to Mary. They went to the Secret Garden every day, planting and playing. Mary never expected that making the garden beautiful would bring such a wonderful feeling to her. She was so happy to be with Dickon that she almost forgot all the sad things around her. She came out of her small lonely world.

After she met Colin, Mary finally found the very person to take care of. Colin, the sick boy who couldn't even walk, had been in bed for about ten years. Before he met Mary, he was taken care of by the servants, but no one really cared how he was. He couldn't find any reason to live. So he cried and cried, thinking about death. But Mary came. Colin was completely attracted to Mary and to all those fresh thoughts and stories which came out of her mouth. Of course, the most exciting of all was the Secret Garden.

The feeling of having someone share your secret is wonderful, especially for the children. Colin used to be too weak to change his life, but now he had Mary, Dickon and the Secret Garden. All these gave him courage. Finally, with the help of his two little friends, he managed to stand up for the first time.

88. Did Mary care for anybody else except herself at first?

89. Why was Mary sent to her uncle's ?

90. What did Mary and Dickon do in the Secret Garden?

_____ in it.

91. How was Colin before he met Mary?

92. Where did Colin's courage come from?

93. Who do you think changed the most in the story? Give your reason(s).

Mr and Mrs Green had two little children: Dick and Catherine. Dick was seven years old, and his sister, Catherine, was only five. Mrs Green was a middle-aged woman who liked to dress up very much.

One day, Mrs Green wanted to go to the shopping mall to buy some new beautiful clothes on her own. As her husband Mr Green was on business, she decided to take her children to their aunt's house to play.

After their mother left, the children started to play in their aunt's yard. The children played for about half an hour, and then at half past four their aunt Mrs Black took Dick into the kitchen. She gave him a nice cake and a small knife and said to him with a smile, "Now here's a knife, Dick. Cut this cake in half and give one of the pieces to your sister, but remember to do it like a gentleman."

"Like a gentleman?" Dick asked. "How do gentlemen do it?"

"They always give the bigger piece to the other person." answered his aunt at once.

"Oh," said Dick. He thought about this for a few seconds. Then he took the cake to his sister and said to her, "Cut this cake in half, Catherine." (217 words)

D. Listen to the passage and complete the following sentences

Lin: Grandpa, why is water called liquid gold?

Grandpa: That's because it's very precious. Water resources are limited, you know.

Lin: But there's plenty of water in the sea.

Grandpa: That's salty water, we can neither drink it nor take a shower with it.

Lin: I see. The book says water is sometimes dangerous. Does that mean floods?

Grandpa: You're right. Floods are powerful and harmful. They can cause huge damage in economy. When there is a flood, people are killed, houses are washed away, crops are damaged and roads are destroyed.

Lin: How terrible! What about earthquakes? Are they as harmful as floods?

Grandpa: Yes. You can never imagine how harmful earthquakes are. The Tangshan earthquake in 1976 even destroyed the whole town.

Lin: Wow! What may happen to the people who suffer from an earthquake or a flood, then?

Grandpa: They may have nowhere to live. But the Red Cross cares for them. And people all over the world donate money, food, water and medicine to the homeless through the Red Cross.

Lin: I will donate some money to them, too.

Grandpa: There's a good girl. :
