The Lantern Festival is a very important Chinese festival. It is in February or March, fourteen days after the Spring Festival. At the festival people eat small dumplings. In China people call them tangyuan. They taste nice. Tangyuan means families getting together. In the evening, people take their lanterns through the streets to join in the carnival (狂欢节), such as the lion dance, dragon dance and fireworks. Many years ago, people made lanterns in different shapes and colours, just like butterflies, dragons, flowers and birds. Today, most people do not make lanterns, they buy them in the shops. Guessing lantern riddles is very interesting. People who can get the right answers will get a little present. The lantern Festival is one of the most important festivals in China.
