The Maya ( 玛雅人 ) were a group of people. They lived in North America a long time ago. The Maya invented a way to write numbers.

The Mayans had a number system consisting of shells, dots, and lines. They used a dot for one, a line for five, and the shape of a sea shell to stand for zero. You could write zero to nineteen with just these symbols ( 符号 ) . They had the number zero and this allowed them to write very large numbers.

Our number system uses ten symbols to stand for each one of the digits. The Maya system is based on ( 以.....为基础 ) the number 20, not on the number 10 as our own. This means that the Maya counted from zero to nineteen before they moved on to the next order, instead of using 10 digits. from zero to nine, as we do. Perhaps they used fingers and toes to keep the count.

( 1 ) If the Mayans want to write big numbers, they need the number ____ .

The cat family includes big cats, such as lions and tigers, small wild cats, and pet cats. All cats are meat-eating animals and clever hunters, with powerful bodies and sharp claws ( 爪 ) . They are very good climbers and often live in forests. We can find cats in most parts of the world.

New-born cats cannot see or hear for several days. Their mother protects them, feeds them, and keeps them clean until they can live alone.

Cats have a good sense of smell and sight, and very sharp hearing. Their large ears pick up sounds easily, and each ear can move to catch every little noise. Cats are not able to taste sweet things.

Tigers are the largest members of the cat family. A male ( 雄性的 ) tiger can be nearly 40 times heavier and four times taller than a pet cat.

A cheetah ( 猎豹 ) can run up to 70 miles an hour over short distances. It is the fastest land animal in the world.

The robot is called AV1. A Norwegian company called No Isolation made it. Karen Dolva and Marius Aable are the owners of the company. Dolva says AV1 goes to school for a child who is recovering from a long-term illness. But the child's school friends must help. They carry the robot between classes and place the robot on the child's desk.

As Dolva says, "It sits at the child's desk in the classroom and the child only needs a tablet or a phone to start it, control it or talk through it. Through the robot, the child can hear their teachers and friends."

AV1 is very strong. It is water-resistant and if you drop it onto the ground, it won't stop working.
