One evening after dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Smith held a family meeting. "We've to make a 41 decision," Mr. Smith said. "You see, your mother has been offered a job as a manager of a TV station in Chicago. 42, the station is not here. After 43 long and hard about it, we've reached an agreement that the right decision is to move to Chicago."

Peter looked 44, while his sister Rachel breathlessly started asking when they'd be moving. "It's 45, but exciting," she said. Peter simply said, "I can't go—I can't leave all my friends. I'd 46 stay here and live with Tommy Lyons!"

The Smiths 47 that by the time they moved to Chicago in August, Peter would grow more accustomed (习惯) to the idea of leaving. However, he showed no 48 of accepting the decision, refusing to 49 his own things.

On the morning of their move, Peter was 50 to be found. His parents called Tommy Lyons' house, but Mrs. Lyons said she hadn't seen Peter. Mrs. Smith became increasingly 51, while her husband felt angry with their son for behaving so irresponsibly.

What they didn't know was that Peter had started to walk up to Tommy's house with a faint idea of hiding in the Lyons' attic (阁楼) for a few days. However, something happened on the way as Peter 52 past all the familiar landscape (风景) of the neighborhood, the fence that he and his mother painted, the trees that he and his sister used to climb, the park where he and his father often took evening walks together. How much would these mean without his 53, who made them special? Peter didn't 54 the time to answer that question but instead, he hurried back to his house, 55 if there were any boxes of the right size to hold his record collection.

weather was beautiful, so we got off to a good start. As there were so many campers – including both coaches and students – we had one big canoe (独木舟) and one smaller canoe. I chose to be in the smaller canoe with my friend Dora, but we soon found that this was not a wise choice. In order to keep up with the bigger canoe, all of us had to paddle (划桨) hard. My arms quickly became sore and my hands became numb (麻木的). To take our minds off the pain, Dora and I played “20 Questions” while paddling. In this game, one person thinks of an object and the other person asks 20 questions to work out what the object is. We had a good laugh before we finally arrived at the campsite.

We started a campfire soon after we arrived. At night, we got together around the fire, enjoying food and listening to scary stories. Some of the other campers put their wet shoes and socks beside the fire to dry. However, because of the wind, one pair of socks almost caught fire. Everyone panicked (惊慌) – one person got so scared that he fell out of his folding chair. Everyone thought it was pretty funny!

The time flew quickly. Soon, it was time to go back. We didn't want to leave and agreed that we would hang out together again sometime soon.

51. The smaller canoe was a bad choice because _____.
- A. they fell out of it too easily
B. they had to paddle hard to catch up with the bigger canoe
C. they couldn't move freely in the smaller canoe
D. it was difficult to control the canoe
52. Dora and the writer played “20 questions” in order to _____.
- A. exercise their brains
B. keep a clear mind
C. forget the pain
D. make friends with each other
53. They panicked at the campsite because _____.
- A. the wind almost set someone's socks on fire
B. they were scared by a horror story
C. some of the students got lost in the forest
D. one student fell out of his chair
54. How did the writer feel at the end of the trip?
- A. proud and relaxed
B. happy and satisfied
C. nervous and excited
D. bored and disappointed
55. Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the passage?
- A. The camping trip is a new experience to the writer.
B. They had something to eat when they were around the campfire.
C. The writer reached the campsite by canoe.
D. The writer went to the campsite with his cousin.

One day, the master commanded (命令) his two servants to plant seeds while he was away. One servant placed the command of his master to his heart and obeyed (遵守) while the other servant only heard the words of his master and went on his own way.

The first servant who loved his master more than himself worked hard. Every day he planted seeds underneath the sun. Though sometimes he felt so tired, he never quit; he just took a rest and thought of his master coming back. He knew that someday all his hard work would pay off and his master would be pleased with him.

But the other servant who loved himself more than his master, enjoyed the pleasure of the world. He thought that his master wouldn't know what he was doing. He used his freedom for his own sake(利益). He put aside his master's command and followed his own will.

Many years passed. Still the master did not come back. The faithful(忠诚的) servant kept following him, while the other servant wandered around the world.

One day their master appeared and was pleased when he found one servant in the field harvesting(收获) the crops but disappointed when he couldn't find the other one.

The master called the two servants and explained why he had been gone for such a long time. He said that he built a beautiful home as payment for the service they offered, and those who have been faithful would be with him, back on his land, in their new home.

So he asked them how good their harvest was. The faithful servant happily said that he had a good harvest every year while the other servant bowed down and asked for forgiveness(原谅) because he had nothing for his master.

The master rewarded the first servant and took him back to his land and gave him a new home, but the other servant got nothing and was punished.

So let us remember to be like the faithful servant so that when our master comes back, we will be rewarded and not punished.

66. The underlined word "quit" probably means "_____".

- A. carried on B. showed off C. gave up D. turned down

67. What did the first servant do after his master left?

- A. He built a new house. B. He followed the other servant.
C. He used the time for his own sake. D. He worked very hard for his master.

68. What did the other servant get at last?

- A. Much money. B. A lot of land. C. A new home. D. Nothing.

69. Which of the following is NOT true according to the passage?

- A. The first servant was honest and faithful.
B. The other servant obeyed his master's command.
C. The master built a new home while he was away.
D. The passage tells us we should try to be a faithful person.

70. The best title for the passage should be _____

- A. An honest servant B. The life of two servants
C. What you give will pay off D. God knows what you have done
