- 21 As we know, reading is good for us. For example, it can enrich our knowledge. Besides, reading good books can also teach us how to be good. By reading books we can know what should we do and shouldn't do. Sometimes the knowledge we learn will influence us during our whole life. So it is important for us to read and it is a good idea to read at least 30 minutes every day. We can also read some masterwork and share the ideas with others. Last but not the least, try to recite some beautiful sentences and it will help with our writing. Just as the saying goes, the book has its own gold house. Read more and then you will find yourself better and better.
