五、阅读理解(每空2分,共30分)

A little boy invited his mother to attend his secondary school's first teacher-parent meeting. To the little boy's dismay (沮丧), his mother said she would go. This would be the first time that his classmate's and teachers met his mother and he was worried that his classmate's would see her mother. There was a scar (伤疤) that covered the right side of her face. The boy never wanted to talk about the scar on his mother's face.

At the meeting, the people were impressed by the kindness of his mother with the scar, but the little boy was still worried and hid himself from everyone. However, he could hear clearly the conversation between his mother and the teacher.

"How did you get the scar on your face?" the teacher asked. The mother answered, "When my son was a baby, he was in a room one day, but the house was on fire. Everyone was too afraid to go in because the fire was becoming bigger and bigger, but I went in. As I was running to his bed, I saw a burning wood falling down and I placed myself over him trying to protect him. I was knocked to be unconscious (无知觉的) but luckily, a fireman came in and saved both of us." She touched the right side of her face. "This scar will be forever, but I have never regretted doing what I did."

When the little boy heard this; he could't help running to his mother with tears in his eyes. He hugged her and felt his mother was greater than anyone else. He held her hand tightly for the rest of the day.

Babies love chocolate, and sometimes they also eat the paper around it. My cat enjoys a meal of good, thick paper, old letters, for example. She doesn't like newspapers very much.

Of course, the best paper comes from wood. Wood comes from trees, and trees are plants. Vegetables and fruit are plants too, and we eat a lot of them. So can we also eat wood and paper? Scientist says, "All food comes in some way from plants." Well, is that true? Animals eat grass and grow fat. Then we eat their meat. Little fish eat sea-plants; then bigger fish swim along and eat them. Chickens eat bits of grass and give us eggs. What food does not come from plants in some way?

Scientists can do wonderful things with plants. They can make food just like meat. And they can make it without the help of animals. It is very good food, too. Now they have begun to say, "We make our paper from wood. We can also make food from paper. " Scientists say, "We can turn paper into food. It will be good, cheap food too—cheaper than meat or fish or eggs."

So please keep your old books and letters. One day, soon, they will be on your plate. There is nothing like a good story for breakfast.
