Many students have hobbies, such as reading, painting, growing vegetables in their gardens, and looking after animals. Some hobbies are relaxing and other are creative(创造性的). Hobbies can make you grow as a person, develop your interests and help you learn something new.

David Smith was a student in 2012, and his hobby was writing. During the summer of 2013, he spent four weeks on a summer camp. As well as the usual activities, such as sailing, climbing and mountain biking, there was a writing workshop with a good writer, Tina. "She asked us to imagine(想象) that we were in a story. Then we wrote about our life at the camp."

In senior high school David wrote a story about school life, and it was published as a book in 2015. Many students love his book, and David becomes a young writer at last.

David is very lucky because his hobby can bring him happiness, but he's also interested in many other things. "I like playing volleyball, too, "says David." I spend some of my free time playing volleyball for my school team. Maybe I'll write more books in the future, but I'm not sure."

It's sometimes difficult to remember that we shouldn't spend all our time on our favorite hobby. There are many other interesting things to do in life, and we should try to do something new or different.

We often hear stories of animals helping people. But now someone returned the favor.

It happened on a snowy January morning. Thomas Smith walked his dog, Jack, in the park. "As I was walking, I just saw Jack running onto the ice towards the ducks in the middle, and then he fell into the water and couldn't climb out," said Smith. He realized he could do nothing but try to save his dog. "Someone else told me the lake was only one-meter deep, but it was at least twice that. I had to break the ice first. Finally, I got Jack by the neck and pulled him out. I don't think I felt so cold by the time we got back to dry land. And when we got there, everyone asked if Jack was OK--no one asked about me!"

A neighbor, Julie Brown, saw it all happen. "The dog went onto an icy lake. Suddenly, it started to go under. There were many people around, and they were all shouting and crying. Before I knew it, the owner(Smith)was already in the water. I believe it was very cold. Everyone was very nervous, but he was as cool as a cucumber --he just got out, took the dog and went home."

Many think he is a hero, but Mr. Smith is quite laid-back about it. "Most dog owners are the same as me. They would do what I did without a second thought, but in the future, I will make sure he's safe near any icy ponds."

Pets are members of our family. Would you do the same for them?
