It was an extremely cold winter morning and the snow had started to melt the day before it froze again.

I was walking with my dogs. I hope my dogs wouldn't take much cold air in this cold winter. Then I looked up and noticed the morning sky, took a free, deep breath. Light pink and purple clouds were floating across the sky. Though the weather was so cold, the sky looked like heaven smiling at me. The dogs, at the same time, were as happy as me.

I thanked life for this beautiful gift as I took another step in the snow. When it stopped snowing, I stepped on 一 it was icy. Suddenly, my feet flew into the air, my body crashed to the ground, my shoe slipped off my feet, then I found myself still staring at the sunrise but with an aching butt (屁股), my back on the ground, and two worried dogs licking (添)my face.

A strange sound was coming out of my mouth but it was a laugh. I lay there for a few minutes laughing and enjoying this funny thing. The dogs were sitting in the snow, waiting for my reaction-that wasn't the first time a good laugh had saved me from danger and pain, and I am sure it will not be the last.

Laugher is one of our greatest gifts from life. It exercises the body, lightens the muscles on the face, enhances heart lung function and purifies the soul. It helps us to be more confident, too. So, why not choose happiness over despair? The next time you feel like laughing then do not hold it back and just let it out. May your soul always sing with the song of sweet laughter !

九、阅读理解（共 10 小题，每小题 2 分，满分 20 分）

阅读下列材料，从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个项中,选出一个最佳答案。

This life is full of beautiful moments. All you have to do is to open your eyes and your heart to see them. I saw just the other day.

The local primary school was just let out and I found myself behind a school bus as I was driving home. The bus stopped by a house sitting on top of a hill. A little girl no more than 7 years old hopped down the bus steps and started running up the hill to see where she was going and saw her dad waiting for her. As she got closer and closer, her Dad smiled and knelt down to greet her. The second she got to him he wrapped his powerful arms around her and gave her a huge hug.

My eyes watered a bit as I watched this scene and remembered all the times my own children had run into my arms with smiling faces and loving hearts. Every single hug from them was a fountain of youth and a treasure of joy.

My lovely trip down memory lane was interrupted by the car behind me. I saw the school bus quickly pulling away and started to follow it again. I did so, however, with a fuller heart and lighter spirit than I had before. I took that beautiful moment and stored it safely in my soul where I knew it would remain forever.

One day we all will leave this school of learning and finally get to go home again. I know when it is my time that I will run from that bus and right into my Heavenly Father's arms. I know that my smile will be bright and my heart will be light. Enjoy your day here at school then. Teach, love, and learn. But know that one day you will be going home where the hugs and loves are everlasting.

96. The little girl smiled when she got off the bus because_____.

A. she hated school and liked to go home B. she saw her father waiting for her

C. she enjoyed the beauty on top of the hill D. she could have a good supper

97. My lovely trip down memory lane was interrupted when_____.

A. the little girl ran into her father's arm B. the school bus pulled away

C. the driver behind honked D. my own children ran into my arms

98. The author started to follow it again with_____.

A. a relaxed mood B. a heavy heart C. a low spirit D. a bad mood

99. We can learn from the passage that_____.

A. the author's father has died

B. the author was moved by the little girl

C. the author didn't greet his children with hugs

D. love can only be found at home

100. The main idea of the passage is that_____.

A. children can only get love from their parents

B. parents should hug their children every day

C. parents should enjoy everything good with their children

D. our life is full of love and love never ends
