- 16. What are some of the biggest scientific discoveries in the history of humans? How have they changed our lives? Are all the scientists born with creativity?

There was once a famous scientist who made several important discoveries. Once he was asked how he was able to be so creative. He replied that it all came from an experience he had with his mother at the age of 2. He was trying to take a bottle of milk out of the fridge. But the bottle was too slippery and he dropped it. The kitchen was covered in milk.

When his mother came into the kitchen instead of shouting at him or punishing him, she said, "Robert, what a great and wonderful mess you have made! I have never seen such a huge puddle (水坑) of milk. Would you like to play in the milk for a few minutes before we clean it up? "

So he did. After a few minutes, they cleaned it up together. Then his mother said, "This was a failed experiment (实验) in how to carry a big bottle of milk with two small hands. Let's go out in the backyard and fill the bottle with water and see if you can find a way to carry it without dropping it."

The little boy learned that if he held the bottle at the top near the mouth with both hands, he could carry it without dropping it. What a wonderful lesson!

The scientist then added that it was at that moment that he knew he didn't need to be afraid to make mistakes. He learned that mistakes are just chances to learn something new which is, after all, what scientific experiments are all about. Even if the experiment doesn't "work", we can still learn something valuable from it.

- (1) Which word in the passage can match the meaning of "being smooth, wet or oily and difficult to hold"?
 - A. Failed. B. Huge. C. Slippery.
- (2) What did Robert's mother do after he made a mess?
 - A. She allowed him to play in the mess.
 - B. She shouted at him and punished him.
 - C. She didn't allow him to take out milk bottles alone.
- (3) From the passage, we know Robert _____.

Our Internet experiences must be awful when the net speed runs too _____1 — it takes us so long to open a website or the most popular program and stops every few minutes. That can be very terrible. Lots of 2 were made to improve the Internet speed. Last June 3, the Ministry and Information Technology (信息技术部) told the public that several companies will be able to offer 5G services next year. Mrs Wang, one of the great experts, said China started 5G research and development as early as other countries. She added we have lots of 3.

What is the 4 of 5G?

5G means "The 5 generation (代) mobile communication technology".

The "G" in "5G" refers to the generations. 1G let us talk to each other on the phone, and we 中考1对1辅导课 | 语数外物化 | 在线or面授 sent messages over 2G, 3G and 4G 6 us with mobile data and the Internet, and 5G will make all of these things 7.

What changes will it bring us?

5G will realize the general hope of "Get the information whenever you want and all things on earth are at your fingertips."

5G will be able to improve many advanced technologies, such as driver less cars. With a 5G network, the information will make driver less cars avoid being 8 by another car.

According to BBC, though 5G will bring our lives more 9, it will not be perfect. For one thing, 5G will not "travel" far, so we need to buy new products designed (设计) for 5G, although they aren't 10. So 5G has its advantage and disadvantage.

24. China's newly-built Beijing Daxing International Airport was open on September 25, 2019. 1 It is 46 kilometers from Tian'anmen Square, 55 km from the Xiongan New Area. It was built in less than five years at a cost of 120 billion yuan. It has the world's largest flight terminal (航站楼) in a single building which has an area of 700, 000 square meters—the size of 98 soccer fields. _____ That's around the total population of the UK and Canada.

Though Daxing airport is very large, it's convenient for travelers to walk no more than 2, 000 feet to reach any boarding gate. 3 This design makes the distance between the central area and the farthest boarding gate only 600 meters, much less than many other Asian and European terminals. It only takes eight minutes to walk between them.

______ For example, airport baggage tracking(行李追踪) technology allows passengers to know where their baggage is in real time by using a mobile app. Interactive kiosks(互动式自助服务亭) and human-shaped robots are ready to answer questions from passengers at any time.

The airport will also use a high-teach parking lot. 5 And then they will lift the cars and carry them to an empty space. When collecting their cars, drivers simply need to scan a parking ticket to find out where to collect their cars.

A. Because it is shaped like a starfish.

B. Robots will help the drivers find a place to park. 中考1对1辅导课 | 语数外物化 | 在线or面授

- C. It is about 50 kilometers from the south of downtown Beijing.
- D. 5G and facial recognition (人脸识别) had also been put into use in the airport.
- E. Besides its size, the airport has drawn attention because it uses new technologies.
- F. The airport is designed to handle (运送) more than 100 million passengers a year.

The Cost of Thinking

Though humans have many differences, they share several typical characteristics (特征), such as large brains and the ability to walk upright on two legs.

The first human characteristic is humans' large brains. Mammals(哺乳动物) weighing sixty kilos have an average (平均) brain size of 200 cm³. Modern man has a brain averaging 1, 200~1, 400 cm³. The larger, the better? Unluckily, that is not the case.

The bigger our brain is, the more energy is needed. It's not easy to carry around, especially when boxed inside a large skull (颅骨). It's even harder to provide energy. In modern man, the brain is about 2~3% of total body weight but it needs 25% of the body's energy when the body is at rest. But the brains of apes (类人猿) require only 8% of rest-time energy. How did early humans pay for their large brains? Firstly, they spent more time in search of food. Secondly, their muscles (肌肉) grew smaller and weaker.

Another human characteristic is that we walk upright. Standing up, it's easier to find food or enemies. In addition, their arms that are unnecessary for moving around are freed for other purposed, like throwing stones or showing body languages. As a result, humans can perform very different tasks with their hands.

Yet walking upright has its downsides. The bones (骨头) have to support a large skull. That causes backaches and painful necks. A large brain makes many advantages. It seems that these have made humans the most powerful animal on earth. But humans enjoyed all of these advantages for a full 2 million years during which they were weak, small and not important.
