21 Last week we did a survey about on-line learning in our school and here is the result. Thirty-five percent of the students think online learning is more convenient, allowing them to study anytime and anywhere. Thirty percent of the students think online learning resources are more abundant and they can share free resources. However, 15 percent of the students think it is not effective because they can't help playing games. Another 20 percent say it makes them short-sighted and leave them no time to exercise.

In my opinion, online learning is a new way to learn knowledge. Online courses are flexible, cheap and time-saving. With these advantages, I believe online learning will be more popular in the future.
