Michelle is sixty years old now. She hopes to calculate her body age to learn if she is living a healthy life. Here are her ways to calculate her body age:

Find resting pulse rate (静息脉率)

A healthy heart usually beats between 60 and 100 times per minute. A lower pulse rate shows that our hearts are strong. Higher pulse rates mean that our hearts have to work harder to do the same amount of work—they are weaker.

She adds one year to her chronological age (实际年龄) because her resting pulse rate is more than 100 beats per minute.

Calculate sleep

Our body needs sleep. People usually need to sleep between 7 and 8 hours per night. Getting less than that can make us tired and older.

Michelle will subtract (减去) six months from her age if she often gets 7-9 hours of sleep. If she gets 5-6 hours of sleep or sleeps more than 9 hours, she will add one year to her age. If she gets less than 5 hours of sleep, it means her body age will be even older.

- (1) This material mainly tells us _____ ways to calculate our body age.
A. two B. three C. four D. five
- (2) If your heart beats _____ times per minute, it is healthy.
A. 30-50 B. 40-60 C. 60-100 D. 90-120
- (3) If Amy is 21 and she sleeps 5-6 hours every day, her body age may be _____ .
A. 20 B. 21 C. 22 D. 25
- (4) What can we learn from the material?
A. Our body age is always older than our chronological age.
B. Lower pulse rates mean that the heart is strong.
C. Sleep has nothing to do with the calculation of body age.
D. Getting more sleep may make people feel tired.
- (5) We may find this material in the column of " _____ " of a magazine.
A. Sports B. Health C. Traditions D. Travel

I once worked at a restaurant. One night, an elderly couple signaled (夫妇示意) to me that they were ready to order. I quickly went to them and gave them the menu.

The man began ordering but he talked stutteringly (结结巴巴地) . It was very clear that he had a speech disorder. His wife told him what she wanted, and the man took the ordering as a way to practise speaking. It took some time for him to order. At the same time his wife was sitting there and she looked so proud.

I had to say they touched me a lot. It just made me realize that love is about acceptance, tolerance and support (接受、宽容和支持) . His wife could have made the order and made things easier for the man, but she didn't. Instead, she supported him and was proud to see him order by himself.

I also learned that life is difficult for us most of the time. The most important is to face the problems in life and try our best to solve them.

- (1) The story happened _____.
A. in the morning B. at noon C. in the afternoon D. in the evening
- (2) What does the underlined phrase "speech disorder" mean in Paragraph 2?
A. lack of sleep B. lack of money
C. language disability D. something wrong with the eyes
- (3) What can we know about the wife?
A. She was very angry with the restaurant.
B. She was very beautiful.
C. She made the order by herself.
D. She showed the writer what love is.
- (4) It is clear from the passage that _____.
A. there is something wrong with the writer's ears.
B. we need to face our problems and try to solve them.
C. we can solve our problems by ourselves.
D. the writer didn't like to serve old people.
- (5) What does the writer want to tell us?
A. Helping others is helping ourselves.
B. Tolerance and support show true love.
C. Life is easier for healthy people.
D. We should learn to look after our family members.
